Hagi Sightseeing Boat

Enjoy the Hagi scenery by boat. The course takes 40 minutes, with an explanation by the captain (in Japanese).

i Hagi Castle Ruins

Hagi Castle was built in 1604 by Mōri Terumoto. It was dismantled in 1874, but part of the moat and the stone base on which the castle once stood can still be seen today.

hKaimagari

A particular twisting road found only in the castle town area. The road's surface has been laid in keeping with the Edo period scenery.

World Heritage Site

a Ebisugahana Shipyard

The remains of the shipyard created for the construction of warships by the Hagi (Chōshū) domain. In the late Edo period, 2 Western-style warships constructed here were launched.

b Mount. Kasayama Camellia Grove

A grove of approximately 25,000 Camellia Japonica. A camellia festival is held for one month every year from mid-February.

© Hagi Reverberatory Furnace

A metallurgical furnace invented in Europe. There are only three such sites in all Japan, and as such, these remains are very significant.

d Former Yamamura Family Residence

A large townhouse built in the Edo period. The Hamasaki district was designated a Preservation District for Groups of Traditional Buildings in 2001.

eFormer Yukawa Family Residence

A samurai residence situated along the Aibagawa River. The water from the river was used in various ways inside such houses.

f Michi-no-Eki Hagi Sea Mart

Local Hagi residents enjoy shopping at this market facility. Locally-sourced seasonal products are on sale, and the market is particularly famous for fish.

g Michi-no-Eki Hagi Ōkan

Specialty local products and fresh vegetables can be bought here. The restaurant uses locally-sourced ingredients in their dishes.
